Office hours: Mondays 5:00– 6:00pm and by appointment

Course Objectives:

The lectures and readings in this course will familiarize students with the fundamentals of economics, economic theory, and the economic way of thinking. We will spend a lot of time developing an understanding of production and price formation in a free market. We will discuss various market institutions such as the firm, advertising, profits and losses, futures speculation, and property rights, focusing on their role in the coordination of economic life. The meaning of life will be solved, time permitting.

Texts:

Cowen and Tabarrok: Modern Principles: Microeconomics(Worth Publishers)
ISBN-10: 1429202483 (Electronic version included with Aplia)

Aplia:

All Homework will be completed at the Aplia website. You must register at the website. It will cost $90.

Instructor: Michael Makowsky

Start Date: 01/30/2012

Course Key: LZJ6-G36G-XCKM

Grade Criteria and Policy:

Homework: 15%
Midterm Exam: 40%
Final: 45%

These percentages are non-negotiable, barring extreme circumstances.

Final course grades will be assigned on the following:

92 - 100	A
90 - <92	A-
88 - <90	B+
82 - <88	B
80 - <82	B-
78 - <80	C+
71 - <78	C
68 - <71	D+
60 - <68	D
<60	F

There will be no extra credit. No, I mean it. Seriously.

A note regarding questions (and whining):

I am more than willing to answer any questions after an exam. I am also willing to indulge a certain amount of whining about your grade. But, you must afford me 24 hours after an exam/assignment has been returned if you expect any help or sympathy. The typical marathon of grading that precedes a returned exam leaves me in a less than generous demeanor. It is best to let this time pass.

Standard Syllabus Stuff

Flu: Students should not attend classes or other university events from the onset of flu-like symptoms until at least 24 hours after the fever subsides without the use of fever reducing medications. Such absences will be considered excused absences; however, students are responsible for the material covered during the period of their absence

Repeated Courses: Students may not repeat a course more than once without prior permission of the Academic Standards Committee.

Students with Disabilities: In accordance with university policy, if you have a documented disability and require accommodations to obtain equal access in this course, please contact me at the beginning of the semester and when given an assignment for which an accommodation is required. Students with disabilities must verify their eligibility through the Office of Disability Support Services (AD 232).

Course Withdrawal: Please note that the last day to drop the class is Wednesday, September 10th. Students dropping on or before this date will receive a “W” on their official transcript. Withdrawal after that date will require an assignment of a letter grade for the course.

Academic Integrity: All students are expected to abide by Towson University’s policy on academic integrity. The policy is available online: <http://wwwnew.towson.edu/provost/resources/studentacademic.asp>. I will pursue the maximum allowable penalty for any violation of academic honesty or integrity.

If you miss a Homework assignment with a legitimate excuse, your HW grade will be composed of your other assignments – there will be no HW makeup.
